NANTES, FRANCE

The Château de Maubreuil, a five-star hotel in the picturesque Nantes countryside, embodies luxury, gastronomy and wellbeing. Just two hours from Paris, this architectural gem offers guests a timeless escape with exceptional service and top-tier amenities. Visitors can stay in one of 14 rooms and suites or choose from three flats, each offering idyllic views of the lush estate gardens.

The hotel's gourmet restaurant, La Table du Marquis, led by chef Clément Vincent, serves innovative cuisine that combines local flavours with global influences. The spa, in partnership with Cinq Mondes, provides a sanctuary of relaxation, where each treatment is a true ceremony of wellbeing.

Steeped in history, Château de Maubreuil was built in 1398 and has been meticulously restored to balance tradition with modernity. It serves as a gateway to the culture and history of the Nantes region. Visitors can explore the themed gardens, inspired by different parts of the world, including a Moroccan garden and a Japanese Zen haven. At the heart of these gardens lies a spectacular rose garden, dominated by a monumental 25ft rose, adding a poetic touch to every stroll.

At La Table du Marquis, the chef creates culinary masterpieces, using local produce from the estate's permaculture kitchen garden, which ensures incomparable freshness. The chateau also hosts wine workshops in its chapel cellar, featuring over 300 international wines, with a special focus on local Muscadets. For a more intimate experience, the Zélélé bar offers creative cocktails crafted with artisanal precision.

Château de Maubreuil caters to all tastes with a variety of activities. Guests can explore the surrounding area on electric bikes, participate in mixology workshops every Saturday or enjoy a sumptuous brunch every Sunday amid the estate's natural beauty. The chateau's dedicated concierge service is available to organise various tailor-made excursions — these include boat trips on the Loire, visits to Muscadet vineyards or explorations of Nantes' architectural and cultural treasures — ensuring a personalised experience where luxury meets authenticity.
